THE STATE OF INDIGENT DEFENSE IN OHIO IN FY 2014

“The right of one charged with crime to counsel may not be deemed fundamental and essential to fair trials in some countries, but it is in ours.”
Gideon v. Wainwright

I. Introduction

When crafting its first-ever indigent defense system in 1976, Ohio relied on its home-rule structure of governance. Each county was required to establish and maintain its own system of providing representation to indigent Ohioans facing criminal charges, with the state reimbursing counties for half of their costs.

The result is 89 indigent defense delivery systems: one in each county, plus the Office of the Ohio Public Defender (OPD). Not surprisingly, this patchwork system is inefficient and results in vast differences in the quality and cost of services provided from county to county.

Much has changed in the nearly 40 years since Ohio created its statutory scheme for indigent defense services: Ohio’s population and economic structure; the state’s provision of mental health services; the size and complexity of Ohio’s criminal code; the severity of criminal punishments and lifelong collateral sanctions; and Ohio’s prison population, which has increased more than 400 percent. Despite these changes, Ohio’s indigent defense delivery system remains largely the same.

Ohio assessed its indigent defense system more than two decades ago and found that it “is neither efficient nor cost-effective in many areas throughout Ohio.”<sup>1</sup> Fourteen years later, another group of experts studied Ohio’s indigent defense system and found the same shortcomings. “It is the opinion of this task force that the system of providing counsel to indigent criminal defendants is inefficient and ineffective, and in need of significant improvements. The time has come for systemic changes to occur.”<sup>2</sup>

Because each county establishes its own schedule of hourly rates and per-case caps, compensation for appointed counsel varies widely. A defendant in one county is represented by an attorney making $60 per hour, while another defendant facing the same charge in a different county is represented by an attorney making only $25 per hour. Recent studies of outcomes in indigent criminal cases have found that Ohio’s chronic underpaying of appointed counsel leads to worse outcomes for their clients.

A 2014 study of cases in Franklin County found that, “assigned counsel generate significantly less favorable outcomes than public defenders,” and blamed the low hourly rates provided to appointed counsel: “[F]luctuations in the local labor market induce relatively more low quality attorneys to choose assigned counsel work.”<sup>3</sup>

A 2011 report, which examined data from the 75 most populace counties in the country, including Cuyahoga, Franklin, and Hamilton counties in Ohio, reached the same conclusion.<sup>4</sup> “[D]efendants represented by assigned counsel received the least favorable outcomes in that they were convicted and sentenced to state prison at higher rates compared to defendants with public defenders. These defendants also received longer sentences than those who had public defender representation.”

Ohio’s system of paying appointed counsel, with its wide variances and artificially suppressed rates, results in increased costs in other areas of the criminal justice system, including jail and prison populations and costs.<sup>5</sup>

The Ohio Public Defender Commission (OPDC) and OPD appreciate the efforts of Ohio’s policymakers to work toward fundamental and necessary systemic reform. We hope to continue to engage in reform initiatives that will result in effective and high-quality legal services.

II. Ohio Public Defender Commission Reform Efforts During FY 2014

To begin to address the many shortcomings of Ohio’s indigent defense system, to use taxpayer money appropriately, and to improve accountability for the state’s expenditure of funds, OPDC and OPD proposed three interrelated reforms during FY 2014:

- Increase state reimbursement to at least 50 percent.
- Allow the state public defender to establish a statewide, uniform set of hourly rates and per-case caps for appointed counsel.
- Evaluate local delivery systems and base reimbursement on system standards and accountability.

OPD is charged with supervising the compliance of county systems with the rules and standards established by OPDC. However, years of budget cuts and flat funding of the state public defender office have negatively impacted the agency’s capacity to oversee county systems, and the state’s diminished financial contribution to the statewide system has left the state with little leverage to encourage improvements at the county level. Increasing state reimbursement to at least 50 percent and enhancing the state public defender’s ability to evaluate and oversee county systems will give the state the leverage, resources, and information it needs to improve the provision of indigent defense services and to ensure state funds are used effectively.

(2007). An Analysis of the Performance of Federal Indigent Defense Counsel; and National Bureau of Economic Research – Harvard University and Roach, M. (2010). “Explaining the Outcome Gap between Different Types of Indigent Defense Counsel: Adverse Selection and Moral Hazard Effects,” available at Social Science Research Network: <http://ssrn.com/abstract=1839651>.

Currently, counties have little incentive to improve the efficiency of their systems, as the state is required to reimburse each county an equal percentage of its total cost, regardless of its system's efficiency or effectiveness. This strictly pro rata reimbursement results in poor-performing counties effectively draining an unfairly large share of limited state reimbursement dollars from counties with more efficient systems. This proposal will allow the state public defender to redirect a portion of reimbursement from targeted areas of county delivery systems that do not meet published, objective standards and that provide inefficient and ineffective representation, to systems that meet state standards and use the funding effectively.

III. Conclusion

As the State enters FY 2015, Ohio's indigent defense system continues to face structural and budgetary challenges. Local systems are plagued by insufficient funding, high personnel turnover, unmanageable caseloads, inadequate training, and outdated technology. Though available funding remains inadequate, OPDC has strategically invested in programs that it believes will contribute to the improvement of Ohio's broken indigent defense system. The goal is to ensure that quality representation is provided to all persons qualified to receive those legal services. The Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution demands no less.

CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY AUTHORITY

In Gideon v. Wainwright, the United States Supreme Court extended the Sixth Amendment right to counsel to all persons accused of committing a crime, regardless of the accused's ability to pay for counsel. Additionally, Article I of the Ohio Constitution provides that "[i]n any trial, in any court, the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person and with counsel."

In 1976, the Ohio General Assembly enacted Ohio Revised Code Section 120, which established OPDC "to provide, supervise, and coordinate legal representation at state expense for indigent and other persons."

Ohio Revised Code Section 120.06 authorizes OPD to provide legal representation under five circumstances:

- 1) When an indigent adult or juvenile is charged with an offense or act for which the penalty includes the potential loss of liberty;
- 2) When an indigent person, while incarcerated in any state correctional institution, is charged with an offense or act for which the penalty includes the potential loss of liberty;
- 3) When any person incarcerated in any correctional institution asserts he is unlawfully imprisoned or detained;
- 4) When OPD has provided representation and an appeal of the decision is warranted, and;
- 5) When an indigent adult or juvenile is charged with a parole or probation violation.

The Office of the Ohio Public Defender fulfills its statutory mandate in its central office by providing legal representation to capital and non-capital adult and juvenile clients. The central office also provides necessary business support to the agency, including processing reimbursement for counties' indigent defense costs.

Through contracts with participating counties, OPD also operates the Trumbull County Branch Office and the Multi-County Branch Office, which provide legal representation to indigent criminal defendants at the county level.

OFFICE ORGANIZATION

I. Administrative Division

The Administrative Division provides necessary business support services to the agency. The Division is composed of seven sections: Fiscal, Office Services, Human Resources, Information Systems, County Reimbursement and Assistance, Billing & Contracts, and Legal Resource Center/Library. Additionally, the state public defender, assistant director, program administrator, and legislative liaison are considered part of the Administrative Division.

Ohio Revised Code §120.04(B)(13) requires the State Public Defender to “provide technical aid and assistance to county public defender offices, joint county public defender offices, and other local counsel providing legal representation to indigent persons....” In addition to the various assistance programs, the Legal Resource Center/Library maintains an expert witness list. Attorneys in need of experts call the central office librarian, who provides them with the necessary information. The central office library also supplies case law to the law librarians in the state correctional institutions.

II. Death Penalty Division

The Death Penalty Division provides, coordinates, and supervises legal representation for indigent criminal defendants in capital cases. Death Penalty Division attorneys handle all four types of post-trial cases: direct appeal, post-conviction, habeas corpus, and executive clemency requests. In addition, assistant public defenders assigned to this division frequently advise and assist attorneys defending indigent capital clients at trial.

A. Direct Appeals: The Supreme Court of Ohio’s review of a capital case on direct appeal is mandatory under Ohio Revised Code §2929.05. Death Penalty Division attorneys represent clients on direct appeal before the Court when OPD is appointed to appeal a conviction and death sentence imposed by a trial court. The direct appeal process also includes discretionary review by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Although the direct appeal process is limited to a review of any matters contained in the trial record, the litigation of these appeals is complex and the records are usually voluminous. Attorneys handling direct appeals must be certified under the Supreme Court of Ohio Superintendence Rule 20.

B. Executive clemency requests: Death Penalty Division attorneys regularly represent clients in the petition for clemency to the Governor. A clemency petition is filed with the Ohio Parole Board, and a full hearing is held to present arguments raised in the petition. Clemency hearings have become increasingly complex because expert and lay witness presentations are often involved. While, generally, there is a narrowing of the issues for clemency proceedings, the continued investigation and development of claims and preparation of witnesses is extensive. Often, this is further complicated by the pursuit of last-minute relief in state and federal courts. Representation of death row inmates is continued until clemency is granted or an execution takes place. An attorney is often present during the execution to advocate for any last-minute or lethal injection-related issues that may arise.

C. Federal Habeas Corpus: Death Penalty Division attorneys also represent capital clients in federal courts on habeas corpus proceedings. A habeas petition is filed after a client has exhausted his or her direct appeal and state post-conviction remedies. On habeas, attorneys combine the prior claims raised on direct appeal and state post-conviction in one petition to the United States District Court. In this habeas petition, the client may only seek relief on claims that involve a violation of the United States Constitution (for example, violation of the Sixth Amendment right to effective counsel or violation of the Eighth Amendment right to present mitigating evidence for sentencing).

Habeas cases are complex. An attorney on a capital habeas case must know substantive constitutional law and must be well-versed in a body of law that deals with the procedural technicalities that often arise when a federal court reviews a state prisoner's claim. This area of practice also combines the skills used in direct appeals and state post-conviction cases. Habeas counsel may be called upon to take depositions, examine witnesses at a hearing, and draft appellate briefs (all habeas cases filed in Ohio are reviewed by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit).

D. Post-Conviction: Death Penalty Division attorneys represent capital clients by petitioning for relief in the trial court under Ohio Revised Code §2953.21. This statute provides a means of relief for trial errors that cannot be fully litigated on direct appeal. Post-conviction cases thus involve an extensive investigation into matters outside the trial record.

Attorneys must have expertise in topics that apply to the off-record challenge of a client's conviction or death sentence (for example, ballistics, blood spatter, DNA, cultural mitigation, mental health, substance abuse, and intellectual disability/mental retardation). This area of practice involves both trial-level skills, when evidentiary hearings are granted by the trial court, and appellate skills, as a client has an appeal of right if his or her petition is denied.

III. Juvenile Division

The Juvenile Division provides access to the courts for children who have been committed to the Ohio Department of Youth Services (ODYS). Juvenile Division attorneys provide legal assistance and representation that begins with a legal orientation during the intake process. Attorneys may then represent children by gathering legal information; correcting sentence errors; filing detention credit and judicial release motions on appeal and post-conviction matters in state and federal courts; during sex offender registration hearings that may include classification, review, or declassification; and when a juvenile's case is remanded for new trial proceedings.

Juvenile Division attorneys provide assistance to juveniles in ODYS on conditions of confinement matters, which includes responding to requests for assistance, reviewing fact investigations, determining whether the child's conditions of confinement claim has merit, and referring the child to a private attorney for direct representation on his or her claim. If a private attorney does not accept the case within a reasonable amount of time, the attorney will prepare pro se pleadings, including a complaint, a motion for appointment of counsel, and other applicable pleadings. Attorneys also advocate for children during discipline and release reviews to the ODYS Release Authority, which impacts the juvenile's length of stay and release date.

The Juvenile Division also provides legal assistance for children who have been bound over to be tried as an adult, and convicted and sentenced to the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction. Representation includes a legal orientation during the intake process, and may include jail time credit, judicial release, appeal, and post-conviction.

In addition to direct representation, the Juvenile Division coordinates with and provides training to defense attorneys who handle juvenile work around the state, and provides systemic and legislative advocacy on right to counsel, quality of defense representation, and other substantive issues involving children in the criminal and juvenile justice systems.

IV. Legal Division

The Legal Division serves non-capital adult clients. The Appeal and Post-conviction Section represents clients in state and federal courts throughout Ohio, with the goal of providing the highest quality legal representation possible.

After the right to counsel at trial and direct appeal has been exhausted, inmates may seek the assistance of OPD with their claims of unlawful imprisonment. Legal Division attorneys strive to quickly determine whether a client's claims have arguable merit. If claims lack arguable merit, the attorney meets with or writes to the client to explain that determination. If claims have arguable merit, the attorney uses the latest research tools and, with the assistance of support staff, litigates the claim in the appropriate courts.

The Legal Division also includes the Intake and Prison Legal Services Section, which performs four critical functions: reception center orientation, representation of inmates at hearings before the full parole board, representation at parole violation hearings, and file management and case distribution. The Office of the Ohio Public Defender has attorneys stationed at the state prison reception centers who meet with and/or distribute printed information to inmates within weeks of their arrival. Potentially meritorious cases are identified and forwarded to the central office for further review and assignment.

V. Mitigation and Investigation Division

The Mitigation and Investigation Division provides investigative services that include fact investigation and the development of life history summaries for the Legal, Juvenile, Death Penalty and Trial Divisions of our office as well as the three Branch Offices in southern Ohio. Investigators are also available to conduct fact investigations and develop life histories for indigent defendants in Ohio who are represented by a county public defender or have court-appointed attorneys.

Criminal Investigators assist attorneys by developing evidence to be used during trial, after the trial, or for state post-conviction or federal habeas. The criminal investigator's focus is twofold: first, analyzing and challenging the evidence the State uses to carry its burden of proof; and second, finding evidence the defendant needs to rebut the State's case.

Mitigation Specialists assist attorneys in developing evidence that will mitigate the punishment imposed on clients found guilty of capital or non-capital offenses. In non-capital cases, they work to develop community placements as an alternative to incarceration and to provide information that may lower the prison term if one is imposed. In capital cases, mitigation specialists do the critical work of tracking down information about a client's life history that attorneys rely on in their efforts to demonstrate that a death sentence is inappropriate for their client.

VI. Trial Division

Ohio Revised Code §120.06(D) provides that OPD may represent an indigent person accused of a serious crime when appointed by a court or when a county public defender makes a request for assistance.

Trial Division attorneys represent clients in capital and other high-profile trials, generally when conflicts prevent local counsel from providing representation or the county otherwise lacks necessary resources. The Office of the Ohio Public Defender also accepts cases under the County Representation Program whenever resources permit. In most instances, these are appeals for which judges are unable to secure local counsel.

VII. Wrongful Conviction Project

The Wrongful Conviction Project, launched in the fall of 2009, is designed to identify potential wrongful convictions from Ohio courts, where other appellate remedies have failed. The Project was created to respond to the need for work on innocence claims where biological evidence (DNA) was not available. The Project investigates cases by analyzing the reliability of the evidence presented at trial and, when appropriate, provides representation.

Under the supervision of the Project Director and the Project Attorney, law students from Capital Law School serve as externs for one semester, gaining college credit by reviewing and investigating innocence claims. Through a private donation, the Wrongful Conviction Project has been able to hire two legal interns from The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law for Fiscal Year 2014. These interns work fulltime during the summer and part time throughout the school year. The same donor has pledged to fund one legal intern position for a Moritz College of Law student through the 2018-2019 school year.

The project made great strides during Fiscal Year 2014, as the project attorney took on representation for seven people and their innocence claims. Litigation varied from federal habeas and filing new trial motions, to representation at a parole board hearing appeal.

VIII. Branch Offices

Ohio Revised Code §120.04(C)(7) allows OPD to contract with a county public defender commission or a board of county commissioners to provide services that a county public defender would otherwise provide. The Office of the Ohio Public Defender operates two such programs: the Trumbull County Branch Office and the Multi-County Branch Office.

A. Multi-County Program: The Office of the Ohio Public Defender began operation of the Multi-County Branch Office Program in fiscal year 1991. The program includes ten counties in the south and southeastern part of the state: Adams, Athens, Brown, Fayette, Jackson, Meigs, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, and Washington.

The Office of the Ohio Public Defender has established three branch offices in Athens, Ross, and Washington counties. These offices provide indigent defense services to these counties and offer support services to all participating counties. There are private attorneys or law firms working under contract in each of the ten counties.

The program is supported by financial contributions from both the counties and the state, with the state contributing a portion relatively equal to the percentage of overall state reimbursement.

B. Trumbull County Branch Office: The Office of the Ohio Public Defender has maintained and operated a branch office in Trumbull County since 1984. Located in Warren, this office delivers indigent criminal defense representation in the courts of Trumbull County.

The office staff includes attorneys, investigators, a paralegal, and administrative assistants. The Office of the Ohio Public Defender also contracts with local attorneys in order to afford flexibility in managing caseloads. Cases handled by staff and contract attorneys range from misdemeanors to capital offenses, including juvenile cases and appeals.

At the common pleas level, branch office attorneys provide representation in the juvenile department of the domestic relations division. At the municipal and county court levels, representation is provided in the cities of Niles, Newton Falls, Girard, Warren, Cortland, and Brookfield. Attorneys also provide appellate representation.

The state and county jointly fund the operation of the Trumbull County Branch Office. The percentage paid by each mirrors the reimbursement rate applicable to all counties under Ohio Revised Code chapter 120. Approximately ten percent of the Trumbull County contract obligation comes from the participating municipalities.

NOTES TO TABLE I: OHIO PUBLIC DEFENDER COMMISSION EXPENDITURES

FY 14 Expenditures: Net expenditures of fiscal year 2014 budget appropriations using the budgetary basis of accounting. Under the budgetary basis, the agency matches or accrues all expenditures to the fiscal year for which they were appropriated. The figures include disbursements of fiscal year 2014 appropriations made between July 1, 2013 and June 30, 2014, plus payments against fiscal year 2014 open encumbrances made between July 1, 2014 and November 30, 2014.

The agency accounts for expenditures using the budgetary basis method for two reasons. First, it is common for the agency to have open encumbrances at year end that are ultimately not disbursed. Some encumbrances may lapse, meaning they go unspent. To include the full value of open encumbrances at year end would potentially overstate the amount of fiscal year 2014 appropriations actually expended. Second, and for a similar reason, the agency excludes disbursements of prior year encumbrances made in the current year. For example, the figures would exclude an equipment acquisition encumbered and received in fiscal year 2013, but not vouchered and disbursed until fiscal year 2014.

A full detailed report of the agency's fiscal year 2014 financial statements including a reconciliation to the modified accrual basis of accounting is available on the agency's website at www.opd.ohio.gov.

* In state fiscal year 2014, the Ohio Public Defender made one additional monthly reimbursement payment for public defender office costs. The figures in this table are the caseloads for what would have been a normal 12-month payment cycle had the agency not made the extra payment. The agency made the extra payment in preparation for the implementation of the new OPD Online indigent defense information system, which will eventually replace the current paper-based system. The existing paper based system has a 60-day turnaround time for reimbursing counties for public defender costs. The new system will be designed to reimburse the counties within 30 days, and by making the extra monthly payment, the agency facilitates the transition to a 30-day payment cycle. For a report showing the caseload for the additional month for which the agency made reimbursement during fiscal year 2014 (April 2014), please visit the following link: www.opd.ohio.gov/aboutus/april2014addendum.pdf.

TABLE X
APPOINTED COUNSEL SYSTEMS CASELOAD, HOURS, AND EXPENSES
FISCAL YEAR 2014

Table X, on the following pages, shows the caseloads and 100 percent costs submitted for reimbursement during fiscal year 2014. The table shows data in seven categories: felonies, misdemeanors, juvenile, appeals, death penalty, felonies in municipal/county court, and other. The category "felonies in municipal/county court" are felonies initially filed in municipal or county court. The cases are only in those courts for a brief period of time prior to indictment, the preliminary hearing, or 15 days after arrest, whichever comes first. Since the longest these cases can last is 15 days and the municipal court has no jurisdiction to find a defendant guilty of a felony, and since most will eventually move into common pleas court, the agency does not count them as a felony to prevent double counting the same case. The category "other" includes post-conviction, parole, habeas corpus, extradition, and other miscellaneous cases.

In fiscal year 2014, the state reimbursed the counties at an average monthly rate of 40 percent.

The figures in this table are reported using the cash basis of accounting, meaning they show the cases and costs submitted to OPD that were actually reimbursed during fiscal year 2014 pursuant to OPD's reimbursement schedule. These bills were generally paid by the counties 90 days earlier, so these figures will not match cases and costs reported by counties on either a calendar or fiscal-year basis.

The case figures are based on reimbursement for both new and ongoing cases, so case figures are not cumulative from fiscal year to fiscal year. Attorneys may submit more than one bill per case and often the agency receives such bills in more than one fiscal year, so will count the case in each fiscal year. There also may be instances where the case count is zero, but expense figures are shown. In these instances, experts or other non-attorneys submitted bills for cases in which the attorney billed during a different fiscal year.

In state fiscal year 2014, OPD made one additional monthly reimbursement payment for appointed counsel death penalty costs. The figures in this table are the caseloads and costs for what would have been a normal 12-month payment cycle had the agency not made the extra payment. The agency made the extra payment in preparation for the implementation of the new OPD Online indigent defense information system, which will eventually replace the current paper-based system. The existing paper based system has a 90-day turnaround time for reimbursing counties for appointed counsel costs. The new system will be designed to reimburse the counties within 30 days, and by making the extra monthly payment, the agency facilitates the transition to a 30-day payment cycle. The key to Table X is as follows:

Cases: The number of cases submitted and accepted for reimbursement after adjustments.* This is determined by counting each individual and unique case number as one case.

Total Hours: The number of total hours reported, after adjustments.*

Attorney Fees: The total amount of attorney fees submitted for reimbursement per each kind of case, after adjustments.*

Expenses: The total amount of expenses submitted for reimbursement after adjustments.*

Transcripts: The total amount of transcript fees submitted for reimbursement after adjustments.*

Total Cost: The 100 percent cost, after adjustments, that was subject to reimbursement.*

Avg. Fees/Hour: Attorney fees submitted divided by the number of hours reported. This does not include expenses.

Avg. Fees/Case: The total fees submitted divided by the number of cases reported. This does not include expenses.

Avg. Ttl. Cost/Case: Total cost divided by the number of cases submitted, including expenses.

**Adjustments include reducing fee requests for exceeding the State or County Fee Schedule, unallowable or undocumented expenses, denying reimbursement for failure to prove indigency, late submissions, etc.*
